Keeping up with safety & health training requirements and making sure that all employees are trained can be a daunting task. Often some employees are not present on the date when training is conducted. In addition, new hires many times do not receive training until the “next scheduled” training program. These situations leave the company vulnerable to fines and penalties because employees did not receive required training. OSHA workplace safety training compliance doesn’t have to be difficult, or expensive.

At Ultimate Risk Solutions, we’ve made OSHA Compliance EASY! Best of all there are no fees per user! You can use each topic in your library as many times as you want to with no additional cost. No more worrying about training gaps, losing productivity or the high cost of repeating training sessions. Our Recorded Training Package takes the guesswork out of compliance!
